

Butler won't be wanted any longer than this year.

Mrs. Langtry is not without her good points. She supports her husband fairly well.

Judge Hoadly thinks he can afford to go to Europe since he has been elected governor of Ohio.

The latest ticket is Tilden and Hoadly. Any ticket with Tilden on is good enough for the republicans.

Christine Nilsson denies the report that she is to marry a wealthy American. She is not in love, doesn't need money, and therefore will probably not marry.

Gilbert, who wrote the words of "Pinafore" and several other bright operas, has made money enough out of comic operas to build a house in London worth $250,000.

The engineers of the war department are figuring on a river and harbor bill of $35,000,000. Let a democratic congress pass such a bill and it will be the best campaign document the republicans ever had.

It seems probable that there will be an end to the Washington monument soon. It will possibly be finished next year, and the cost will not be far from one million. It is the homeliest thing they could build for a million.

"The wolf will probably be kept from the door" with 420,000,000 bushels of wheat on hand, 1,600,000,000 bushels of corn, 500,000,000 bushels of oats, 6,000,000 bales of cotton, and over 50,000,000 bushels of barley, besides more potatoes and other vegetables than can be used by the people.

The inquest in the Burns murder case at Lincoln is still in progress, but it is one of these peculiar cases in which investigation tends to mystify rather than make plain. Mr. Carpenter, charged with the murder, holds his tongue well, but he says he will speak at the proper time and not before.

The democratic party of the south (that was during the war) offered $10,000 for Bon Butler's head. The same party will now pay several times that sum if some one will kill him off as a presidential candidate. But the democratic party gave Butler a warm embrace when he joined its ranks, and now that it has him it must not complain. The republican party was made better when Butler left it, and it will only stay with the democratic republicans will have occasion for rejoicing.

It is estimated that General Sherman has received houses and other presents worth $50,000 since he became general of the army, exclusive of the $40,000 worth of diamonds given by the Khedive of Egypt to Mrs. Fitch, and since divided among the general's daughters. For the past fifteen years he has been paid $17,500 a year, and he will draw this salary until his death. General Grant's presents are difficult to estimate, except the cash, which amounts to $350,000, and houses $100,000.

A democratic paper has the right idea of the situation: "The incoming democratic congress is regarded with a good deal of suspicion by the party that elected it. Of its ability to conduct legislation expeditiously and wisely there are grave doubts, but concerning its capacity to knock the democratic fat in the fire there seems to be no question in any quarter. The balloon must ascend, however, as advertised, on the first Monday in December, and the Lord only knows where it will land."

Attorney General Brewster has begun to fool with the lottery companies, and the question is whether he will fare any better than Postmaster General Cresham. He has sent to all United States district attorneys a circular letter calling their attention to the fact that there is a section (3894) in the revised statutes which forbids all lottery companies from using the mails, and instructing them to use all proper means in their power to enforce the law closing the mails, not only to patrons of lotteries, but to the lottery companies themselves. Lottery companies and Mormonism seem to worry the government considerably.

The Shaw locomotive, which was on exhibition at the railway exposition in Chicago last summer, has recently been tested as to speed between Chicago and Indianapolis. It is able to average seventy miles an hour. The weight of the engine is 67,000 pounds, and when in use with its coal and water, it weighs 74,000 pounds. The engine is chiefly adapted for running long distances without stopping. The best record of the engine, on rail is a mile in forty-seven seconds, or seventy-six and three-fifths miles per hour, which was made with two cars. As speed is not required as to freight trains, the Shaw locomotive will likely be attached to passenger trains only.

Fay Templeton, the pretty little actress, is in trouble, but in this respect she is not in different circumstances from a large majority of her profession. Last spring Fay forgot herself and married a Mr. West. The union did not prove to be a happy one. In less than a month they began to quarrel, and in six weeks they part. Incompatibility of temper was the cause of this domestic bankruptcy. They seemed to love each other for a while, but when they got on the road and begun the serious business of battling with everyday difficulties of life, they became discontented and disappointed, and found relief only in separation. Fay told an Oshkosh newspaper man the other day that she has all of matrimony she wants, and therefore will not be in a hurry about getting a divorce.

The report of the director of the mint shows that the amount of coin, bullion, and currency doing duty as money in this country reaches $1,730,577,823, the highest point point ever reached by the circulating medium of the country. Of this amount upwards of $400,000,000 is in the treasury of the United States, leaving about $1,330,000,000 distributed among the banks and in the hands of the people. This shows the circulating medium of the country to be in the neighborhood of thirty-four dollars per capita. Of the total coinage of silver dollars only about twenty per cent is in active circulation, while of the gold about seventy-three per cent is either held by the banks or in the vaults and pockets of the public. The actual increase in circulating medium, outside of the amount held by the treasury, during the past year amounts to $19,000,000.

The important point in dispute between the Patriarchal circle and the Sovereign Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows, has been settled at last by a decisive vote of the Supreme Temple of the circle which has just closed a session in Milwaukee. A Milwaukee dispatch says the troublesome bull was taken squarely by the horns and a resolution introduced removing the qualification for membership which rendered it obligatory on the candidate to be a member of the subordinate lodge and encampment of Odd Fellows. The resolution, after a lengthy and vigorous discussion, was adopted, and the circle now stands as independent of Odd Fellowship as it does of any other order. This action was taken, it is claimed, by members of the circle, not from any fear of excommunication by the Sovereign Grand Lodge, but purely for the good of the circle. The members say they will still enjoy the privileges of Odd Fellowship, but hereafter the circle is open to anyone who can pass the critical test of the black ball box.

The Rev. Robert Collyer, preached a sermon recently in the Church of the Messiah, New York, on "marriage and divorce." The sermon was an excellent one, and consequences that follow divorce, he one, and while Mr. Collyer showed the did not point out a remedy for that evil. Everybody knows that divorce suits are multiplying on every hand, that unhappy marriages are constantly taking place, and that states are offering a premium for divorces by increasing the facilities for procuring divorces. We don't want sermons and magazine articles which simply give us all the bad there is in divorce—we see that all around us—but we want sermons and magazine articles, if we must have them at all, that will point out a remedy and therefore be of some benefit to the public. But Mr. Collyer has no remedy except that the contracting parties must look upon marriage as a divine institution. The people of this country, as a rule, practically do not regard marriage as such an institution. The law says it is a civil contract, and as many marry at first sight and repent at leisure, divorces follow as a very natural consequence. If any minister is wise enough to point out a clear way to reform in this business, he will confer an inestimable boon upon society, and save from wreck and ruin thousands of homes. One place to begin the reform at, is the law. Lessen the number of causes for divorce may be granted. Let it be more thorough in investigating the grounds on which divorces are sought, and possibly in this way some check may be applied to the business of breaking marriage contracts.

A Disbarred Pension Attorney Restored.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—James F. Russell, a pension attorney of Trenton, N. J., suspended by Secretary Teller at the request of Commissioner Dudley, has been restored to practice. His offense consisted in the use of the words, "United States Pension Agency," as descriptive of his business.

Switchmen's Strike at Kansas City.
KANSAS CITY, Oct. 25.—The switchmen in the yards of the Wabash, Hannibal & St. Joe and Atchison, Topoka & Santa Fe roads struck yesterday afternoon. The officials are firm in refusing to grant the advance. It can not be stated yet to what extent work will be interrupted.

Beginning of Mrs. Langtry's Tour.
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Mrs. Langtry has started upon her professional tour. On the 20th inst. Mrs. Langtry opens in Montreal, whence she goes to Chicago and San Francisco, playing in all the important towns en route. She will probably confine her journey to Australia.

Suicide Caused by Financial Losses.
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25.—William Straman, of the firm of Straman & Meyer, livery stable keepers, and a well-known local politician, committed suicide by hanging himself in his stable. Financial losses were the cause.

Spanish Politics.
MADRID, Oct. 25.—It is reported that Castelar and his republican supporters have resolved to maintain a friendly attitude towards the new Government if it fulfills its promises, especially to restore universal suffrage.

Duly Abolished.
PANAMA, Oct. 25.—Ecuador has abolished the import duty on fencing wire.

DISASTERS ON THE OCEAN.
BOSTON, Oct. 25.—The most serious disaster resulting from Wednesday night's storm, indeed the only one involving loss of life, is the loss of the large fishing schooner F. B. Tower, of Boston. The vessel went ashore at Provincetown. The only persons saved were an old man, a cripple and a boy thirteen years old. The old man reports the loss of the Captain and eight of the crew. The name of the Captain could not be ascertained. The Captain with his men were out with their seines when the storm overtook them, and the schooner was driven into shore. Reports from Cape Cod say that a large white boat came in through the surf at one o'clock. She apparently belonged to some steamer. One of her seats was lettered "Dalton." A life-preserver and three cars were found in her. The steamer City of Columbus, which sailed from Savannah last Friday, is overdue at this port at least two days, but no anxiety is felt for her safety, as it is thought she has been detained by the bad weather.

Intelligence has been received that the British schooner William H. Bourke, of St. John, N. B., loaded with coal, was struck by Saturday's squall in Vineyard Sound and sunk. The crew consisted of Captain Finley, his son, George Finley, mate, Mel Whalen, George Finley, cook, and one other, whose name was unknown. All perished excepting young Finley, the mate, who floated about in the gale at that night and finally drifted ashore at Gay Head at 10:30 a. m. next day. He reports that when the schooner went down, flowers, the coals, and the crew's baggage were scattered about. Whalen died in about three hours from exposure, but Finley, with wonderful endurance, held on twelve hours, until the boat was thrown ashore at Gay Head. On a secure plank and drifted in company with them for a long time, and it is supposed he fell off exhausted. Nothing was known of Captain Finley after the accident. Young Finley remained at Gay Head at last accounts, being too much used up by his terrible fight for life to endure the journey to Vineyard Haven.

Fierce Flames in Pittsburgh.
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—Murdert's planing-mill, on the South Side, together with five two-story frame dwelling houses and 1,000,000 feet of lumber, were entirely destroyed by fire. The flames were discovered shortly after eight o'clock a. m. They originated in the furnace-room of the planing-mill, where the furnace was being fed with slavings. The fire spread with such rapidity that the employees barely escaped with their lives. The fireman and engineer received severe but not serious burns. In twenty minutes the entire mill and the dwellings and lumber were burning fiercely, and in an hour nothing remained but smoking ashes. The dwellings were saved by seven families, who were unable to save any of their household effects, and consequently suffered severely. The losses will aggregate $55,000, on which there is an insurance on the mill and lumber of $10,000. The household goods were uninsured.

Keillogg and Brady in Court Again.
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The action brought by John A. Walsh against Thomas J. Brady was called in the Supreme Court. The matter came up on a motion to vacate the order granted for the examination of Brady before the trial. The suit is based upon a claim about $43,000. This suit is an order in connection with the suit which was obtained to examine Senator William P. Keillogg as a witness, so that his deposition could be used upon the trial. Senator Keillogg, in an affidavit, says the order was not obtained in good faith, but was intended to prejudice him in his trial or indictments. Judge Barrett also vacated this order.

A Ponderous Volume.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Among the cases recently docketed in the United States Supreme Court is the City of New Orleans vs. Myra Cath. Gaines. The record in the case is the largest ever submitted to the Supreme Court or probably any other court. It is bound in one immense volume, which weighs over 200 pounds and contains 3,200,000 words. It takes two men to open and shut the book.

A Lunatic's Horrible Death.
WASHINGTON, Mo., Oct. 25.—A mildly insane man, named Keeny, was placed in a large room adjoining the jail under the court-house by the authorities, who had taken him out of the wet and cold. While the jailer was at supper screams attracted people to the window, when they saw Keeny in his frenzy hugging a red-hot stove. He was taken away, but death soon relieved his sufferings.

Plunging Headlong into Boiling Glass.
KENT, O., Oct. 25.—Samuel Baht, a German, thirty-five years of age, employed in the glass-works of Messrs. Williams & Co., deliberately plunged into a furnace of boiling glass, before those who were standing within a few feet of him could prevent him.

Diphtheria in North Carolina.
GREENSBORO, N. C., Oct. 25.—An epidemic of diphtheria in the past six weeks has carried off over three hundred children. Between some counties quarantine was established. The disease is now abating.

PUZZLED DETECTIVES.
Another Day Spent in a Fruitless Search for Zora Burns—Missing Clothing—The Excitement Abating.

LYNCOCK, Ill., Oct. 25.—If, at the preliminary examination of Orrin Carpenter now in jail, charged with the murder of Zora Burns, his former domestic, whose body was found in the lane near here on the morning of October 14, the State's Attorney should dismiss his complaint, and Carpenter should walk out, no thinking man, at this juncture of affairs, would be astonished. The feeling that he was guilty is growing smaller every day. That is to say, the opinion that the evidence thus far implicates him in the deed is dwindling. All of the necessary links to prove that Carpenter did this work are missing. It is an open and avowed opinion that he never can be convicted on the facts that have been grouped, and the untiring and determined effort on the part of the detectives to weave a web about him, and their failure to do so, is pointed out as evidence that they are at the end of their trail. It is complained by a large number that the officers have started out on the one theory and are seeking evidence only that will bear them out. They do not care to take any other course, but insist that Carpenter had a good motive to do the deed and consequently he is the man who must be convicted.

Carpenter's attorneys visit him every day, and from their repeated assurances that there is no good case against him he is picking up courage and rests much easier. He slept soundly all night and his appetite has also returned. He is improving in composure very fast, and looks like himself again. No session was held by the jury on account of the funeral of Mr. Martling, Carpenter's partner in the Hartsburg business.

The officers are nonplussed and don't know which way to turn for further evidence. It begins to look as if the murderer will not be found and that this boobyery will pass into history as an unsolved mystery.

P. T. Beach, the senior counsel of the firm retained by Carpenter, has returned, and in an interview with him he gave it as his opinion that his client is in no great danger and would be discharged in a very short time.

CHOLERA IS REAPPEARING.
The awful scourge of the East Summer breaking out in Alexandria—Six Deaths.

CHOLERA IS REAPPEARING.
ALEXANDRIA, Oct. 25.—The dreadful epidemic of cholera, which raged here throughout the summer, but which was thought to have subsided, has broken out again with great violence, and a renewal of the horrors of the past few months is feared. There were nine deaths from the disease Wednesday, the victims being mostly Europeans, and it is feared that the rate of mortality will increase to the figures of the worst days of the plague during the past season. The difficulty of having the simplest sanitary precautions taken in this country may account for the fresh outbreak of the scourge. The new foothold it has obtained has greatly discouraged the authorities in their attempts to stamp out the disease. The inhabitants are watching each day's developments with the utmost anxiety, and are already almost panic-stricken.

An Uneaten Dinner Causing Trouble.
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The dinner which was tendered to Congressman Perry Belmont at the Argyle Hotel, Babylon, L. I., in June last, and which was not given to him because he suddenly discovered that he had business in Philadelphia, is making a great deal of trouble for the committee of Democrats which made the arrangements for it. Mr. James H. Colt, the manager of the Argyle, has brought suit in the City Court of New York against Edward P. Doyle, the Secretary of the Committee, to recover $750, which he says he expended in arranging for the dinner before the order for it was countermanded. Mr. Colt says that he laid in vast stores of provisions, game, wines and cigars on the assurance of Mr. Doyle that he would have to provide for at least a hundred guests, who were to pay $10 apiece for their dinners. His actual loss he estimates at $750, which he asks to recover, with interest and the costs of action.

A Railroad Defending Its Land.
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 25.—The situation at Wampum, where the Pennsylvania Company and Pittsburgh, Cleveland & Toledo Railroad Company are contending for a strip of land, remains about the same. During Wednesday night the Pennsylvania Company's force made several attempts to capture the ground, but was as often repulsed by showers of stone and earth fired by dynamite. No one was seriously injured. The Sheriff of Lawrence County is on hand to preserve order.

A Rumor Denied.
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25.—A report was published Thursday evening of the attempted robbery of an Iron Mountain train between Ocean and Delaplaine, Ark., Wednesday night, by "six men heavily armed." It has been ascertained that the men in question were a party of wood-choppers, who desired transportation, and signaled the train, but finding it was a through passenger, explained their position and waited for the next local.

A Nation of Letter Writers.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The Third Assistant Postmaster-General furnishes a statement showing the number of postage stamps, stamped envelopes and postal cards furnished postmasters from September 1 to October 24, 1883, as follows: Postage stamps, 599,950,174; stamped envelopes, 38,602; postal cards, 74,985,250. The total value of the several articles is $5,320,540.10.

The Fence War in Texas.
COLEMAN, Tex., Oct. 25.—At a mass-meeting where ranchmen and fence-cutters were both represented, it was agreed to suspend the work of destroying inclosures for fifteen days, in order to canvass the sentiment of the county, and to fence no more pastures until the special session of the Legislature.

A Patent-Medicine Swindler Jailed.

ANGIE J. KING,

A FEW TIMELY REMARKS!

Years ago we almost continually had traveling stores disposing of accumulated shelf worn stock. Of course we sold goods for "50 Cents on a dollar," and there were plenty of people anxious to secure the bargains?—Not the second time, however. Well we accomplished our object, and then established a permanent store in one of the busiest towns of the state, the cash sales of which exceed those of any Clothing Store in Janesville. This outlet enables us to buy goods in such quantities as to command the very lowest prices; to take advantage of any large lot that a dealer may wish to close out at a bargain, and to keep our stock free from unsaleable goods that take up room and interest on money. Under these circumstances we can, WILL and DO, sell goods cheaper than any house in this part of the state; we furnish a much larger assortment from which to make selections and are the only house in Janesville that ever dared to mark goods in plain figures and stick to the price every time, thereby extending a uniform treatment to all. The time of our salesmen is not spent in "wrestling" over the price, but in doing their utmost to please customers and money will be returned for any goods misrepresented by them. Our Fall and Winter stock is now ready for your inspection and you are perfectly safe in looking it over without fear of being importuned to buy or make an offer. The prices, in plain figures speak for themselves and we think talk pretty loud. Come and hear them talk. Respectfully,
M. C. SMITH & SON, One Price Square Dealing Clothiers.
